

The nationally prominent architectural firm Fujikawa Johnson and Associates (FJA), was chosen for Park Pointe by the Developer because of its outstanding record of creative design and project delivery. FJA is a successor from the architectural practice of Mies van der Rohe and is known for superior design quality, technical excellence, and the efficiency of its buildings. Through FJA's vast experience, the firm has created a portfolio of a variety of structures, including modern high-rise apartment/condominium buildings; complex, high-tech urban office towers; contemporary suburban business centers; expansive mixed-use developments; luxury hotels; and state of the art structures for highly specific technical functions. In addition to their technical high-rise experience, FJA has illustrated its versatility on projects such as the Chicago Board of Trade Expansion Project and the Elementary School Prototype Annexes for the Public Buildings Commission of Chicago. FJA is currently working on the rehabilitation and expansion of the Hyatt Regency Chicago. The firm's work can be found locally, across the United States, and in Canada.

Their portfolio of Chicago projects include:

- North Harbor Tower
- The Buckingham
- Columbus Plaza
- Fairmont Hotel
- The Athletic Club at Illinois Center
- The Chicago Mercantile Exchange Center
- Boulevard Towers
- 200 West Adams
- Schaumburg Corporate Center
- Naperville Municipal Center
